If there anyway to set up the fds and anything else that logs (SSGM) to save the log file in their own folder? Just to clean up my FDS server folder.

Figured it was worth to ask.

for SSGM AFAIK it's open source so u can edit log path

idk if it works

(otrh logs i know is from BHS.dll and there is no way to change log paths i think)

All but renlog could be easily changed. However, if you have a bot that reads logs, you would need to make sure it's capable of looking in a different location for the log files.
