If this is a request for help, please use the right subforum, I'll move it. Also, please describe your problem.

If you are trolling, prepare to be flamed, counter-trolled, and then have the moderation team attack you with their warnings and bans.

Indeed not, I'm going with the latter of my options being the correct one, so I'll let the users have a go first.

(They won't, now I've made more than one meta-comment)

Do I need to link to Eric S. Raymond's guide on how to ask questions?

Use the Installation guide. (New CD image available here)

If it doesn't immediately work, try the FAQ.

Then, if you're still stuck, try asking a a COHERENT question in the RIGHT SECTION OF THE FORUMS, with no added crap.

hey mikey whats up if you used a serial thats not yours you're guaranteed to be banned from all servers even if you do get online ... all shared serials are banned from most servers ... anyways you cant get online because im sure all 9 nicknames on the serial are already taken but other than that there's nothing you have to do tricky other than patch renegade and load up server listings

If you can at least get it installed, I hear that changing the serial in the registry to that of a valid TS/RA2 key or something works just fine.

edit: Oh, yeah, you might be able to use the serial changer for this:
