What's funny about mail not being able to be sent to where you want it to go?

I think you mean to say "Make sense, you do not." Unless you weren't trying to make an inverted sentence (Yoda?), in which case, disregard what I said.

It was meant to say (according to grammar) "You make no sense."

I was pleasantly surprised with the choice of song.

I was unpleasantly unsurprised with everything else.

Didn't know there was a song, in fact as soon as I clicked the link and saw YTMND I raged and closed it.

well it was actually about Elvis Presley singing return to sender.

Mostly that's also when mail doesn't arrive at the recipients address.
I found it funny, the idea hearing that song.

Idk, I know its lame. maybe because I'm to serious lately
