ok i was working normal shit when my comp suddenly crashed and it had to do startup repair after a failed restart attempt then it failed and i had to do it again... later a message popped up that said Cannot be repaired automatically... it wont start up what the fuck is wrong with it edit: ok its working now i unplugged it and then restarted it and let it sit for a few minutes and it took less time then before i gave up on the first try

Yea it keeps crashing now Anti-Virus Detected it but it still works surprisingly well aside from occasional crashing
