Checked on the IPDB and there are no matches for this IP, nor any IPs in the same range. Closest match has a difference of over 1000 (or, in dotted notation, almost 0.0.4.0 difference).

So they are either posting via a proxy, have a very dynamic IP address or do not play traditional Renegade at all and have not done so for some time (at least on the mainstream servers).

So i dont think someone would go to the US with a US isp to leak then go back to to where they originated

As a matter of fact, yes, there is. An exact match too as it happens on an account which was registered on the 10th, the same day you created this topic. Somehow I don't think that's a coincidence...

Username: renxc

Indeed, Blackwolf/Magnum/Renxc is a douche and did leak APB not long ago. In fact, one of our (APB) team members even tried to warn Dark about his concept thievery and his leakery, and he more or less ignored it. Good game, Reborn.

EDIT: Also, he's been found to be spreading hacks for the games. He's such a great guy.
