Interesting that the AARP is presenting this list, and seems to be advocating the unbanning of those books. The organization constitutes a very large voting bloc, that's only going to be getting bigger. You can bet some two-bit community councils will probably rethink their decisions of banning those books.

I've read a fair amount of these, and it seems like overreacting.

Kind of ironic how someone would censor Orwell's 1984.

I'm sorry, I don't think that book has ever been written.
