This morning, two guys on my team bought a mammoth each. I bough a MRL. We head out, I'm following them. As we reach the field a flame tank appears. They both quit. Saddley the flame tank had a passengar and stole one of the mammoths. This really Ticked me off. Don't quit in the middle of the map and leave your vehicle for the other team.

I doubt they quit. They were probably bumped off.The host may have even had something to do with it. Maybe he was the one driving the flame tank.

Hmmm...I get bumped off once in awhile, but few times it has been games where I was winning big time (like just blow up WF), has a lot of $ and 0 lag and all the sudden, I got "You have been disconnected from the server, please quit" (or something like that).REALLY make you scratch your head and wonder about things....

i really doubt the host kicked them. they probably got disconnected due to bad connection. most hosts are fair; if you find a cheating host, just avoid the server! don't be lame and blame the host-who is kind enough to setup a server- for all your game problems!

I saw a host (same name as the server host with one different number) do that once, kicked someone in an Apache on City, then grabbed it. Nod had lost the AS, OBL and HON and we had lost wep fac and PP...left him to own the game...he even bragged about it.
