Hello everyone, Just as we thought CnCTube was forgotten and was just a phase, we have just gotten a little bigger with the help of CnCSaga, and the Saga Arts program.

Current Features:

Every C&C Game Category: Including a SAGA Arts Category for our other fellow Saga Art Projects.

Including a Mod Category, which allows us to add individual Mod Names as sub categories! Request your Mod to get a category in a new topic.

Channels for your Accounts

On registration, you are automatically given a CnCTube Channel.

<http://cnctube.com/channels.php> (We'll take a look at what User Categories we can edit to suit C&C.) There's also the standard customization for backgrounds you wish to edit etc.

Groups!

Particularly helpful for Mod projects wishing to have a Group page, or for any fan websites.

<http://cnctube.com/groups.php>

Forums

As you may have already noticed, we now have a forum here at CnCSaga, as part of the SAGA Arts program. Quick link is found: <http://cnctube.com/forum>

Editors Pick

Each week we will have an Editors pick on videos. Right now you can see on our homepage we just have a video about C&C4/interview with Kane. <http://cnctube.com/>

Its a great chance to get your video noticed by our growing community. We will feature one of your videos each week if you make a topic in our CnCTube forum, if theres no request, theres no feature.

Multiple Skins

I know how members feel about a dark and light skin, this bit will take a little longer. We planned on getting the re-launch of CnCTube with two skins, both light and dark. We will eventually have this, for a sneak peak of the Dark Skin in the works, take a look here <http://gearhead-online.deviantart.com/#/d3bijo2> (Obviously, this is based off the original old dark skin of CnCTube, so it will be redesigned to match our existing site.

Blogs

CnCTube will eventually be after a small news team for its Blog, just so C&C communities/projects have the chance to request news and engage with us more. Obviously there will be news, and then there will be Site developments of CnCtube posted too. Remember to check every part of the site on a regular occassion.

And lastly, and Active Team for CnCTube.

I'm planning on creating a high tech, active, and rewarding CnCTube team so we can stay on top of your requests.

Seriously, you can buy a physical copy of renegade brand new for less than £3.

So... your trying to sell us a YouTube ripoff and a place to buy serial keys for about the same price as you can buy a boxed copy of the games they are for, with the additional risk that there is no guarantee the original owner of the serial will actually stop using it and it ends up being banned from XWIS.

You know, you might want to invest your time in something that's actually useful instead.

Also, ROFL @ the begging for domain renewal fee contributions... domains are cheap as chips, I renew my domains for less than £5 a year...

Neogrant wrote on Mon, 04 April 2011 23:03Hello everyone, Just as we thought CnCTube was forgotten

For something to be forgotten it has to have been remembered in the first place. I do remember that when I saw your first ad here, I was hoping to would go way soon. Since I didn't see any more of your stupid crap I presumed that my wishes had come true, only until to day, where you are again posting a stupid ad.

Pro-tip:

- 1) If you want a high profile website, do not try to get an almost dead community to start it.
 - 2) If you want a high profile website, make sure it has something unique and is not a cheap rip-off from something that is already a gazillion times larger.

Not even sure why 'official support' is given to you guys for renegade, quite humorous nonetheless.

It could be, perhaps, that the community members who post in the forums do not officially represent the forums themselves.

Just as you should not expect to be successful when you go around trolling on other people forums when you don't get the feedback you desire.

Why don't we just troll him and upload a bunch of porn to his CnCPornTube site? It worked for YouTube, maybe it works for him too.

I'd like to add the fact that he tried before and got a similar response to his cnc tube website.

That may be true, but often the community in a forum is a large part of that representation. If not, then moderate, but of course theres lenient moderators to keep their forums active.

Sorry and you mention I'm trolling, take a look at the last 3 posts, and posts before I just skipped. Good moderation.

CnCTube is not unique in that respect, nor are the 100's of other websites out there. However it is a service to the C&C members out there who wish to find C&C videos easier and categorized. After all, youtube isn't pure c&c video site.

That Cheap Rip off may be apparent to your trolling eyes right now, but the site is still in beta, I will hold you to that statement when we apply our updates

Correct they are cheap, and is now covered anyway However when you're a student, you might have heard of low funds.

I'm a student as well and although BlackIntel gets donations, I've managed to pay amount varying between 100 Euro to currently 39 Euros a month for colocalating a server which set me back me 690 Euros last year. On top of that there are the domains related to BlackIntel.

I'm sorry, but if you're asking for donations for domain renewal you shouldn't even bother, really.

One has to dare to invest in something one believes in.

Ha, don't worry too much, it was a little amount I didn't have available in my paypal at the time the domain renewal crept up.

I don't know if you get the point by now, but as far as I'm aware of the current situation, you're not going to get any support here.
