Just recently got this game and personally I love destroying every building I see. Anyone else play(ed) it?

Played it, never finished it...
It's a fun game, though. My brother and I had fun on LAN, too.

I bought it a while back and never opened it. It's strange because we played a ton of the demo but when we actually bought the game completely lost interest.

I've gotten to Oasis... for some reason the games not as fun past Badlands and I really can't figure out why. It's fun still with guerrilla raids and other guerrilla actions but the actual missions aren't that fun after a while. This is a strange game.
