If 2 supergood Reneplayers of equal skill were given 1 Med tank each with Hotwire/Tech and they fight under the bridge in City...won't the battle go on forever or will one be able to eventually eliminate the other?

techs cant outrep med tank shots, u still get like 5 dmg per shot

so eventually one will die

That's good to know for sure but I am sorry I didn't write clearly. I meant each player getting 1 med with the players themselves being the hotwire/tech.

There are no techs/hotwirs repairing the tanks.

It's basically a test of who is the best tanker as during this fight under the bridge, they may have to jump out and repair quickly while using the drums and what not for cover.

That's what hitman said....while one is out repairing, the other will slowly be killing his med, or splashing the hell out of hotwire...either way, one will win.

I haven't played in a while, but I don't remember there exactly being a ton of cover underneath the city bridge..

It would be case of who shot first... that person would win.

If they both dont miss and both repair correctly then he who shot first would win...

unless ur against a jbl where they would just exploit the double damage glitch and win straight away

keep in mind that jbl (either of em) barely hits a shot at all with tanks, let alone while repairing
