The desktop wallpaper is 1920x1200 in two files. The first is watermarked with my URL, the second is not.

The wallpaper is great, except that Havoc looks like a cartoon character. He has no realistic lighting to his skin, nothing that would give him any definition. He looks "off" and I would argue that Havoc in Renegade looks quite a bit better.

I don't think you made him, but he really doesn't look right at all.

It is a RenegadeX render, and I agree the lighting isn't top-notch.

It isn't just the lighting, but the texture detail on Havoc. It looks like he has no normal mapping at all. It's really bland and kills the feel of your design.

It might have something to with Renegade-X's Havoc's face looking completely different from the Havoc on the box art or in-game. It looks completely different and the texture for the face lacks detail.

edit: Yeah, the texture on the whole model is quite bland and lacks contrast.
