I've noticed that when scrolling with your arrow keys through the options menu; the two new options can't be selected with the keys; only with the mouse.

Just a tiny, small bug that not much users will notice or use and therefore is low priority, but I'd like to point it out anyways.

That's all.

Probably can't be done, or not easily, as I'm pretty sure Renegade's engine controls the order that the selection moves through the buttons.

That could very much be true, but I barely have any knowledge about Renegade's internals so I don't know for sure. We'll await the team's response to this.

Fixed in the next release. (Only had to reorder two lines.)
