There are many highly anticipated games coming out this holiday season. Which games are you looking forward to / planning to get in the next few months?

Battlefield 3 is pretty good. The Caspian Border map was a blast, but the game is very buggy in its current stage. I also thought it was odd how the choice of weapons, vehicles, etc are very random in the game. They also got a lot of their weapon descriptions and information from places like Wikipedia, and some of it is incorrect.

Battlefield 3. The only other games I can foresee playing in the next 2 years is a new L4D and world of planes.

Yeah, my wallet is going to be hurting for the next few months.

Games I've got on pre-order now are Battlefield 3, Batman: Arkham City, Legend of Zelda: Skyward Sword, Halo: Anniversary and Star Wars: The Old Republic.

Other games I'm planning to get would be Assassin's Creed: Revelations, Final Fantasy XIII-2 and Mass Effect 3. I might also get Modern Warfare 3 somewhere down the line just for continuity purposes but it isn't really a priority.

None. Diablo III isn't rolling around until at least next year, and I have too many unplayed games in Steam from a bunch of previous sales.

Diablo 3, Legend of Zelda: Skyward Sword, BioShock Infinite, Max Payne 3, Aliens: Colonial Marines, Metro: Last Light, and of course Half Life 3/HL2EP3 (whenever it comes out...).

I could go on but I'll just stop there.

Just thought some of you guys would like to know... Rage is now up for downloads.

Not that I condone that, of course

Chrome 2, Republic Commando 2

But let's face it, if any of these games did come out they'd be ruined with modern-day console simplified gameplay.
