I click on the Tiberian Technologies Launcher shortcut and this
*Failed to get launcher version* message appears....

Either your internet connection is down or the firewall is blocking the TT launcher. What it does is it tries to fetch a file to see if it's up to date. It needs a working connection for that to work.

Gotcha, but the thing is, my broadband is working perfectly, I also tried marking the exe in the firewall as 'trusted'. I tried switching the firewall completely off but I still get the same message.

Can you access the following file in internet explorer?
<http://www.tiberiantechnologies.org/update/launcher/version.dat>

When clicking open it tries to open it but it keeps re-prompting this:

So you cannot actually download the file?

I can download it, I just saved it to desktop, then clicked File>Open>Browse>Open dat file and this happens

<http://desmond.imageshack.us/Himg231/scaled.php?server=231&filename=datfile.png&res=medium>

If I click open it just re-prompts the same question

It seems that it's trying to open it with totalplayer. If you have that installed, can you try to uninstall it (temporarily) to see whether you still get the problem?

Looks ok, but did it fix the updater problem? If not, can I maybe help you via remote desktop/teamviewer/something like that? If so, please contact me via IM, details are in my forum profile.
