Multicam is always so freaking expensive though...

If you ever want to buy something in multicam... it's almost double the price of regular material.

Quote: Consider the type of socks you'll be wearing with your boot.

For thicker socks, you may want to select a half size larger than you normally wear.

When you do receive your boots, we recommend first wearing them indoors for a few hours to ensure they're the right fit.

Free Return Shipping

Rest assured that if the boot you receive doesn't fit correctly, we pay for return shipping back to us. You can order with confidence knowing return shipping is always on us.

looks like a chinese site that was translated into english or something lol woo I learned something; I didn't know the multicam material was expensive. I knew it was kinda rare; just last week on eBay a rare pair of multicam knee pads shot up to a shitton of money in the last second lol.
