When I log on to Resurrection, I usually see the Jelly Marathon server but recently I have not been able to find it or log onto it. I noticed that at the bottom of resurrection it has unscanned servers so I try refreshing over and over but it still does not display them. I have tried adding back jelly marathon but it will not add it back with the IP for some reason. I just need to know how to fix the problem so I can begin logging back in to play jelly marathon server again. Help please.

Use the GSA tab of RenList instead of the RR launcher.

Try direct connecting. Hold the windows key and press R, a "Run" box should pop up there. Paste in the following:

```
C:\Westwood\Renegade\Game.exe +multi +connect 174.36.116.30:8133 +netplayername
UltmaWpn

Then press the enter button.

It says "Connection to server broken" every time. I think that issue might have something to do with me not being able to find any game servers when loading renegade up normally, that is why I had to use RR in the first place, to view the servers.

PM 'Jay' on Jelly's forums, you might have been accidentally banned by their firewall, it happened to a regular a week ago too.

This direct connecting line should be usefull with a list of official servers IP`s:Port`s.

I normaly play on Jelly Marathon server, but other servers IP`s could become handy.

Probably this direct connecting command would become more usefull if added to the FAQ as too many of us don`t know how to use it (i didn`t knew until yesterday, while chatting with someone on the IRC channel).

Greetings, Cristian.
