This plugin will automatically reset the match after 120 second have expired and it will announce the time remaining until the automatic resetting. After every player has typed !ready it will reset the match, if it happens before the auto-reset. Players can't move until the match has reset. Once the match is reset every player and harvester will get killed, and every player's deaths/kills/score/credits will be reset (credits will be set to the server's starting credits). The map timer will also be reset to the time remaining on level load.

Nice work. However, i think it bugged when someone left the game, it didnt ready up the game for those who did do !ready ie: player1 left the game without !ready player2 and player3 do !ready but the game does not start/reset :S
