I crashed 3 times today. I don't really recall what I was doing but I was doing different things each time (nothing special).

Each time was the same type of crash; freeze then hit ctrl+esc then crash.

The dumps:

Couldn't be bothered making my own topic; I crashed trying to quit the game just now.

It crashed on the end game screen because it could not find team information for Nod. I don't know why that is though.

The same cause for one of roszek's crashdumps, the other crashdump is not clear and I can't analyze it in the limited time I have now. The third crashdump (ending with -n2) in roszek's zip is not relevant (-n2 crashes almost never are, because they happened as a consequence of another crash, the corresponding -n1).

Robb

this maybe a n00b thing to ask.

But did you update the scripts source when the update for the scripts 4.0 came out?

If you go to there site you will see every time they update the client version they also update the source version.

Sounds interesting, best of luck finding out why!
