Yeah, when the server is reset BR spams lots of kill messages.

Might be better without those...

does the game start when everyone has typed !ready? Renegade's system of marking players who are still loading is buggy so I'm not sure if it works in 100% of the cases. it doesnt really matter as the game will start in 90 secs if that doesnt work anyway if you want to test it quickly for me I can check out another way to kill players that might not cause kill messages to spam (no idea if its works) yeah, the two matches we won was when people actually did what we said, and on walls it took a lot of effort to persuade people too lol

Our team figured out what to do on Field eventually but we lacked organization.

we let you have islands

But yeah we had you guys on fucking lockdown in walls for a good 15-20 minutes and you made a strong break for the victory

nice job
