Here you go Testgun. Reason why you can't see you image from n00bstories image viewer.

CrimsonI think part of it has to do with the image gallery. I'm working on rewriting it at the moment. When it's not using resources on the database server, things should improve, and if not, I will bug the web host. I get a little bit of lag at times, too... but it hasn't got any better or worse with the addition of these forums... you just notice it more because you're here more.

is that why the images in my sig wont appear oh btw the forums work perfect for me...could be your isp's?

CrimsonYes, I broke a couple parts of the image gallery. All will be well shortly.

And there you have it. The source is from here:

Ok.

Even if it was working he's doing it wrong, like I said, you need to link to the raw image URL not the other one. (when you upload to n00bstories you have two links, choose the raw one)

Here I will host it on my server for you to save you the trouble of trying to solve the problem:

Rather large (in image width an height terms) though isn't it...

Here is the location http://www.clanrta.pwp.blueyonder.co.uk/pictures/forums/boombaby.jpg ...

I don't use that server anymore you see got a new site http://cncdaily.nucleardays.com .

It streaches the table and is way too big. I don't mind the size since I have dsl, but think of the 56ks!
