I keep getting a "RenX-WME.ms" Error.

I've tried searching this forum plus the internet and can't find a direct answer. The only thing I saw on this forum was if there was a previous version of it installed to delete it, but I don't have a previous version of it.

Can y'all help me please?

Copy the W3D to your Renegade folder, drag and drop it on the fixplanes.exe file. It fixes some errors in the W3D.

Then try importing it again into max.

If you don't have the file fixplanes.exe then you don't have 4.0 and you are a n00b but that aside, you can get it on <http://www.tiberiantechologies.org>

hehe

So drag the plugins folder that I extract with the plugins? (I used to mod all the time I never had this issue LOL.)

I have scripts 4.0 and dont see a fixplanes.exe in my renegade folder.

Hm, you dont have fixplanes? then you are looking at the wrong folder probably because i think it is included with 4.0 for clients.

But: Are you having problems with the script installation to max, or are you having problems importing a W3D it into max?

Maybe you have an outdated version? Ill attach it to my post,the one i am using, which works fine for me @ 3DSmax8

The RenX-WME.ms goes into the Scripts folder, example:
D:\3DSMax8\Scripts\RenX-WME.ms

The files in the folder startup go into your startup folder:
D:\3DSMax8\Scripts\Startup*.*

Good luck..

That might be the issue I am having LOL... I don't have all the files that are in this one lol.

Ill let you know in just a moment if it works.

(I had downloaded the Updated W3D Importer by Jonwil) That I found on here.

Ill let you know in just a moment if it works.

It doesn't fix random errors. It's designed to fix a specific problem with collision information generated by the 3dsmax w3d exporter.

If it's a broken .w3d file, it's likely to make things worse...
