For 1 penny you can get 6 games but for 5.70 you can get Saints Row The Third as well.

check it out. first time the humble bundle hasn't been dumb indie games.

also they give you them as steam game codes so you can just add right to steam and play which is baller status.

There are enough good indie titles as well. Just as there are good and bad AAA games. (which is both mainly based on personal opinions of people anyway)

But yea, for those prices it's a steal.

I wonder who already bought one or more of these games on the Steam Autumn Sale xD Actually, it's starting at $1 not 1 penny/cent. The first few Humble Bundles used to be a minimum of 1 cent but people were abusing it and buying hundreds of bundles. A while ago they made the minimum for future Humble Bundles $1.

But anyways, even for the current avg. of $5.71 all these games are quite the steal. I remember paying anywhere from $5-9.99/ea during Steam sales for all these games.
