Anyone thinking about playing this ?

One server full everyday between 17:00 and 2 am (UTC+1)

I even got back an old friend on it. We were testing on a empty server.

The moderators do a great job and any cheater won't last long.
The game got better than the original.

Hope to see to renegade veterans soon.

It was a long night and a lot of dust to reinstall my TFD disk to get my year long Renegade cravings out of my system. It took all of two hours to figure out that Noobstories and Jelly died out. Had to figure out XWIS and WOL and then Tiberium Technologies downloads all over again just to access the server list.

And saw two people online. On a weekend... it was terrible. If Ren-X is where the majority of the player base moved to, might have to give it a try.

They did not go there either. It's hit and miss these days. If you join now, you'll see people.

Got it sorted out. I see the player count is up a bit right now.

For some reason, Interm Apex does not show up on the GSA tab. It also has a reasonable amount of players.
