Renegade is still an active game in 2024. It's a good combination of a lot of old players (who often have returned after years without playing) and some newer players.

Did this post make you interested and (re)installing Renegade? There's a "how to" guide here: <https://www.renegadeforums.com/index.php?t=msg&th=41253&start=0&>

Personally, I'm located in Europe. I play Renegade about every other evening during the week and every Saturday and Sunday evening. There are usually +/- 2 active (16+ players) servers during week nights and 2 or 3 active servers during weekends (some servers get up to 40+ players playing simultaneously).

The most popular servers still offer a large variety of gameplay. Here are some of the more popular servers:

- Rencorner marathon has more classic gameplay
  - MPF UltraAOW gives a more modified experience
  - W3DHUB interim apex and W3DHUB APB are standalone multiplayer mods for Renegade
  - Renewars server is reserved for more competitive play with classic clan war rules / setup. You need to join their discord to play there
- <https://www.renegadeforums.com/index.php?t=msg&th=41252&start=0&>
- There are also a couple of co-op servers

Most of these servers also have their own discord channel.

SBH rush:

Flame tank rush:

I hope this post can get some of the elder players back. If you need help installing Renegade, please check this topic:

You can find me in the KOSs2 discord while I'm playing. Feel free to come and say hi!

To all existing Renegade players: feel free to add some gameplay video's!

I might be the only brazilian playing this game. Playin' it since 2004 and online since 2009/2010 (with other nicknames ofc), haven't dropped ever since.

All the servers you listed are great, I played in them at least once. The one I join the most is Rencorner tho, where most of the fanbase usually plays at. I rarely drop in MPF, only when I'm in the mood for some Stealth PIC. :gdi:
