Reminds me of a building that our platoon once stormed a while back *ah memories* one cheaky git of an enemy leaned out of one of the top windows and started to shoot my section, I picked him of pretty sharpish! (with blanks mind, but he buggered of in to the safty of his building, only to be taken out a few seconds later, )

Actually!! i would love to re-create the small village we trained in as a DM It would bring a bit of real soildering into Renegade. If you are going to release that building it would give me less work to do as i already have enought on my plate, which i would appreciate.

"Aircraftkiller" It looks like a badly textured box with more badly textured boxes inside of it.

new anything about modding or building in RenX you would of known that.
I somehow knew you would come into my thread and spread your un-solicited hatred.
So while I got you here, I might as well tell you about the map you clamed as yours, mention other problems all over the place. I can't even play it. I did my own version of it, much Glacier Flying has nothing to do with your buildings looking like boxes with bad texturing.

You do realize that creating a version of Glacier without my consent will land you in a lot of problems? Not only that, but you're also lying because differing versions of maps between the client and server cause more latency issues than what you're describing? You're full of shit and lie very badly.

You know not of what you talk about. And I won't let you pull me into another one of your ass-a-nine, childish bickering. Grow up my little one.

P.S. I can freely make any map I want, even the ones West wood did not complete. My dad's a lawyer. So stfu. all the parts were given to me by Westwood, just as it was every one else who got their programs to make maps. So again STFU.

You're an idiot. A genuine idiot.

Westwood never gave you anything. It was me that the maps were given to, not you. You have no rights to any of them, you do not own them, and the fact that your father is a lawyer does not mean you know what you're talking about.

You're not going to justify thievery. AllGusto couldn't do it. You can't do it. No one can, because being a thief isn't a justifiable occupation. You should teach your kids right from wrong, bl00g00f - after all, you're what they look up to and you're warping their little minds.

Before you continue to make an ass of yourself - go to C:\Westwood\Renegade\Data or wherever your Renegade folder is located. Find a file inside called C&C_Glacier_Flying.txt. It was included with the 1.035 patch.

ENORMOUS SPECIAL THANKS TO: Mike Amerson from Westwood Studios for helping me obtain this map and other models I've dearly needed, along with kindly helping me learn how to use 3DS Max. Thanks very much to Tse-Cheng Lo for designing Glacier Flying. Being able to finish his work was awe-inspiring! Another special thanks goes out to Chris Rubyor, also know as Delphi, for helping get these models to me and helping the mod community as a whole. We couldn't do it without you, Delphi!

Map Name: C&C_Glacier_Flying.mix version 1.2

Creator: Aircraftkiller

Email: aircraftkiller@cncrenegade.info

Theatre: The interior of a glacier in Alaska

Description: The third flying map that was to be included in the 1.030 patch for Renegade. You fly around in the interior of a glacier that GDI and Nod have taken for some reason and are battling it out for control of it, possibly for the high concentration of tiberium growth.

Looks like your father's going to have a hard time arguing against the will of Westwood Studios\Electronic Arts.

Here you go again, bringing my kids into this. Get a life, I'm not a thief, if any one is, it's you, I have the tools to do my own maps. I don't need any thing from you. What a little mind you have! You always think every one else is stealing from you. What a dip. I guess your going to force me

West Wood Studios. So STFU.
I think I will release it, just so you can KMA.

I'm sure you got it from Westwood Studios. As of 1 March, 2003, they ceased to exist, champ.

Anything else you care to share? There's only one Glacier Flying and that came out in September of 2002.

yeah so? as long he dont release anything noone is harmed and if you really made that map its still you who are the creator he just made it less laggy so he could play on it (you should take that as a compliment that he want to use his own time to alter your map (for himself) so he can play it, i know I would just delete the map)

He doesn't even know the first thing about doing a decent map. You can see that in the screenshots he's posted.
