i have noticed a lack of good servers in euros aswell

and there are these bunch of gay server which are up 24/7 but closed for clan games and i NEVER see any clans playin in them..they are on the same map for like 3 days in a row would these clans open there server up for public use?

i find clan names soon

My server is still up -- and once I get the hardware upgraded I think I can handle a second FDS on it, but still small.

I host a 10 player sniper server. I don't get many complaints. A lot of times I can't even join it.

frijudIf only I could use my work computer as a server, it could easiely run a 32 person game, but alas, the governement frowns on using government property like that

I ran into that problem too, a realy powerful NT server, with a dedicated T1 line, or was it T3? I can't remember, and the worst thing is, that is sits idle for 8 months of the year... Oh well.

Renegade like all games has a lifespan and might just be nearing the end even though we all do not wish it to be...

In the beginning it was all about the 32 person server (during the multiplayer beta and the first months of Renegade)

Now we have progressed back to these 32 servers....hmmm.....

I fully agree, there are maybe 3 good servers on WOL Euro, let alone someone hosting Renegade Alert...
