This guy spams more than Sk8rIMuk. Look at his post count and then look at his posts. All that get to commander :rolleyes:

1 word posts in the Linux forums. It agrivates me to have posts bumped down by people like this posting on dead threads or threads they don't even read. Don't tell me you read every story on this page and posted only after you read.

EVERY single Linux post has his name in it. None of what he posted is even helpful.

Almost every post has a comment in it from him. Most of which are 1 or 2 word phrases and comments.

All I ask is for you to stop, slow down. What is the rush?

One of the few times you will ever see me do this..

BUMP

Because 2 people keep posting on every story out there. I think we need a spam rule.

Yeah, check out this one too. They turned a topic about spam into a spamathon.

I just made a seperate post asking for these two to be banned. This is where our moderators should put a stop to spamming.

That post did get out of hand thats why I asked you to close it.

Sk8rRIMukOK then please lock the topic and I will not post in this topic anymore anyway .

I have been absorbed in the quest to be first to commander so I will only post in topics that I can be of help now as I do not wan't to lost the communitys confidence...

1) I said this before that I would rather stop posting altogether than lose the communitys confidence.

2) I do not wan't anybody includng you Kirby as my enemy.

I support the spam rule as I wen't to far and we need a rule to stop people doing the same as me.

Oh and I removed that stupid gloat from my signature.

I guarantee you you will never see my name alongside the Genral Discusion on every topic again.

It gives me a better feeling to have a normal 70-80 post count than 300+. I know why you hate big quotes, because that means less server space for you to spam on.

I am trying to make a genuine apologie here...

I would agree to have my posts reset to zero as punishment becaus I think that it was kinda unfair on the other community member, at first I though I was hoestly wasn't spamming but it has become appanarent that I was just Glory Hunting...

Oh and the reason I hate big quotes is it takes ages to scroll just to get to the point, the big quotes I mean are like 1000 pixels high?.
