Well I have SoundBlaster Live 5.1 soundcard in my PC, with 5.1 sound surround. I would also like to connect my two unused loudspeakers to my computer from my Grundig stereos. The problem is, Im a complete newbie with this kind of stuff, so how can I do it, if I can? :oops:

On the Live 5.1, there is a Line Level output (headphone plug) that should be empty. You should be able to use this adapter to go from that to an Input in your stereo (not phono, VCR/DVD/Tape are ok).

1/8" adapter stereo phone to two RCA plugs

Make sure its stereo. Note: This will only output the sounds from the front 2 speakers due to sound cards configurations.
