I suppose I could visit a few websites and draw my own conclusions, but I thought I'd ask you all instead: what game will be your next Renegade? Is there a game on the horizon that you're waiting for, or are you already making the jump to something else? Since I got Renegade by accident (a freebie gift from my brother's roomie, who preferred the other CNC labels), I wasn't really looking at this genre before. Now I think it's a blast...

Renegade doesn't stack up to most of the other FPS war games...

(BF1942, MOHAA, etc.)

Renegade is a great game and I won't worry about replacing it for quite a while yet. Sure some people think that Planetside will be the end for Renegade, but I don't want to have to pay every month to play a game I've already paid for! I'm not some rich bitch!

It does have sweet graphics though.

This is the best MP fps i've played, and I dont know if anything will be the same. Planetside looks very good but if I'm going to pay a monthly fee, I'd have to play it a lot so it dosent feel like a waste. I like renegade cuz it's a quick game.

I may get BF1942 a couple of months in the future, that game doesn't look like it will die out anytime soon.

Planetside sucks, a friend of mine is on the beta... too much sitting around doing nothing and not enough action = FPS action without the action.

None. The only games I've played online regularly anyway are Renegade and Worms Armageddon.

Oh well, that's your opinion...

BF1942 is a great game, but I still prefer Renegade in some ways.
