Yes, it's been brought to my attention that there is someone on Planetside, masquerading as myself and making a mockery of friends of mine on these forums and the IRC.

I do NOT play Planetside, in fact I very much resent it. This person most likely also as accounts of other members of the IRC, forums, etc... If you play Planetside, I just want to make you aware that if you encounter "me", then do not regard this moron with any responses at all.

If you're on this forum, grow the fuck up. You're really not making yourself look cool my impersonating people you'd like to be in real life. Child.

Is there any way to find out if users exist with specific names, in the beta?
Maybe like a stats/buddy list or something similar.
