I Got:

20000 K (Kilobytes/second)
160000 K (Kilobits/second)

Not sure if it is working for me. Then again i've seen people buy RDRAM for AMD Athlons so it could just be me making an error. Then again it could be my router.

No it isn't

KBps = Kilobytes per second

Kbps = Kilobits per second

1Byte = 8 bits

56K = 7 KB/s

64K = 8 KB/s

128K = 16 KB/s

256K = 32 KB/s

512K = 64 KB/s

1024K = 128 KB/s

2048K = 256KB/s

5096K = 512KB/s

10192K = 1024KB/s

On the left is Kilo Bits, on the right is Kilo Bytes. They can vary though depending on your connection type proximity and traffic.

Lol...

No, but nice try.

A byte is made up of 8 bits. If you're given the speed in bits (kb), and you want bytes (KB), than just divide by 8.

It would be like saying a "Bag of 8 Apples" contains "8 apples".
