Silence. Your pathetic attempt for a public appeal will only result in the loss of sleep on your part, for you nothing but a misguided, slowminded child.

You have given no one in this community any impression that you are over the age of 12. Try again next time, champ.

Maturity is one of those things you can't fake; I'll leave it at that.

GunRun, it's they the way you present topics, and start new threads when they can be contained in threads that are already about you. Also be more sophisticated ,so to speak, when ever you respond or the way you present your text (SUCH AS THIS). Try not to post new threads unless it's something urgent in the real world or in the C&C/Renegade community that hasn't already been posted about or if it's a new mod you want to present or if you feel it's absolutely necessary (this first post could have been an addition to the many others that you have started). Just follow little things like this and you won't get as much heat as your getting right now.

Also the more you open topics like this one, the more Java and others will tail you, and degrade you till you don't feel welcome here anymore. Which right now they are pointing out the things I have listed. In this community especially when your new make only 1 topic dedicated to yourself as a welcome, and let that be it for yourself for awhile. Afterwards join in on the topics give your humor, ideas, opinions on how things work. Once you develop your personality on here, and gain everyones trust as an ok guy then it is the time to publicize your mods giving out the sites without them being removed by admins.

So.... with this in mind let us start over.

Hi GunRun welcome to Official Renegade boards!

I'm sorry. The first impression was met quite a while ago. I don't usually reconsider these things after I know how a person deals with them. So far, I have only seen an annoying child, wasting my time, and the time of others with useless drivel. Good for him, he's made a mod which only he plays, props to him. He can advertise it on the mod forum and take ACK's wrath.

He didn't do this. He spammed it everywhere. That in itself is someone who is grotesquely overconfident, and frankly, thats the best way to get on my bad side.

nah, it's ok I think he is just learning the rules of etiquette on nonspammy forums.

Though i guess by your response that that is the personality which has been ingrained, but maybe he will better his communication skills for you guys and himself.

I commend you of your honest truth and the way other feel as well. I hope after reading this thread he will see how to act more proper.

He did ask me if I could help him to make you guys see better of him, but I said he would have to do that by himself. Mainly just to cut out the CAPS and spam, he should be alright then. :sly:

TheGunrun -

I bet that screenshot in your signature was taken 6 hours or so after the Ranks reset.. Considering you have around 12,500 points, and the normall end month score is around 50,000
