Hi all I am creating a site for a freind and he wants a dropdown navigational abr from the top that expands...

Like this one at alienware http://www.alienware.com ...

As I am doing it free for a freind I don't wanna go fork out $50 on a special kit so has anybody got an idea where I can get a free menu bar kit/tutorial...

Yes the site will be cnc based so thats why I posted it and I need it to be about 7/8 buttons wide...

thankyou in advance...

http://www.dynamicdrive.com

Look under Menus and Navigation and check out Top Navigational Bar. They give you the script, you have to read the instructions on how to modify it to fit your needs. (ie changing color, position, etc) Mind you, the one I just mentioned is only one of many navigation scripts they have available for download, you'll most likely find that once you've looked through all of them you'll have changed your mind on what you want to use.
