This looks bad for Renegade...

Lots of people has stopped or slowed posting...

DoS attacks on n00bstories...

Closing of Renegade Realm...

Where do we go from here...

Do we stay with Renegade and stand proud or move on and acheive more in other areas...

The site will be missed L3f7y by me and every one I believe.

shit... there goes another one... shurly be missed and never be forgotten. maybe ea killed command&conquer, but i hope the community wont get smaller anymore...

the only little hope for the last C&C westwood studios created are the upcoming mods like reborn or chronowar and, for shure, renegade alert.

good things come and good things go, but only the real worse remains.... thx a lot ea

Is Ren Alert still in production? I never even knew there was a public beta until 2 days ago, I would have liked to see this mod done. I know i should be asking the Ren Alert team maybe.

I agree, thanks alot ea. :rolleyes: WW is very important to many hardcore and even occasional C&C fans. What's going on? Why is it gone?

It is the best site of Renegade. we will miss it...

The thing we miss is the good. . not the evil

I will and I think all of the community will be missing it as i saw it in this thread!

wtf??? I'm offline for a few weeks and L3f7H4ND3D and company goes mad. First I finally manage to get online and into renegade realm and the forums gone. Nobody posts news for a while and the entire site commits suicide. What the hell happened? Why the hell is it happening? Will the new mini site be anything close to what the old one was?

I think the only way to describe my feelings is something like this:

I never played Renegade or visited this site much, but I've known Lefty for quite some time.

The site was always good any time I came around; good news stories, Ren Alert info, lively forums.

Sad to see your site go L3f7y and Peri.

Thanks for the comments everyone.

t wasn't an easy decision to make...closing down a site you created is hard to do, but alas life will go on.

I wanted to again thank everyone (there are way to many to name) who have supported me and my sites while I was in the CNC community (first RA2MD and then RenRealm). A big thanks and a round of applause goes to Lefty for taking RenRealm to the level it reached. He did an excellent job. Hard to think he knew little HTML when I first asked him to join as my Co-Webby.
