i need a little help. i would like to set up a renegade server that rotates most of the user made maps that i have (all the ones off of renmaps) and i'm not able to set the player number to more than 2 for some reason. every time i try to set the players to more than 2 i get an invalid error box with the text "TDBERR" written in it. can anyone help me please. i'm running on:

WinXP
P4 1.7GHZ
512 RDRam
Gforce 4 (64meg)
and i have 640kbps down by 256kbps up ok i need some help guys. I set up a dedicated with the FDS all goes well the server boots up runs great . logs on westwood shows the game is pending , but i cannot see the game in the server list on WOL when i log into my game on another system. I can go to my buddies list and see my server there but cannot log onto it have no firewalls running as of yet this is just a test to set it up so i figured that it would be easier to work out the bugs then set all that up later. I have told it to post the game in the USA server for WOL according to the server it does everything right. cept publish the game in the server list. Or allow me to join it. I can even page to the server and see my pages. ANY suggestions ok i reinstalled it still no go. shows my server in the buddy list but not in the WOL sever list and cannot join it .

Question does it matter if the original game is installed on the system also, someone told me it does. cant run them both at the same time i know that . only running the server version. keep the ideas comming ?

windows xp pro athlon 1800 oced 1.9 1gig of ddr333mghz ram kyroll 4500 64mb ram .
