It's called DON'T CHEAT. That's how you keep yourself from doing it.

If you have to ask... You'll never know.

If he has to ask then people like you will use an obscure quote to keep from divulging anything usefull to him.

I see this isn't going anywhere. By the way, I'm not asking to cheat. There is no honor in cheating. I simply would like to know. Perhaps you really have no information to share.

How about, I'm concealing an exploit which can be used to hinder the gameplay of others.

Ok then carry on

Here is how you Obelisk walk.

Press f8 and type "obelisk walk super cheat"

A stealth monkey should appear. Get in the stealth monkey and fly out of your base. Ram it into a cliff and a secret potion will appear. Drink the potion to become immortal and then just walk right into the ob!

Idiot, rather than asking... How do you stop it? Your asking how does it work?

Pretty easy really... just walk to the Obelisk... it usually will miss you unless your a tank. It usually miss infantry units... so in order to do the Obelisk Walk... just walk right into the Obelisk without anyone to see you so they don't kill you. The only defenses you have to worry about is the AGT which hits infantry units dead.

Hope this helps... remember just practice it and it will work.   Good Luck...

A few hints:

The SFPS has to be low, maybe 40 or less for this to work.

And it's the way you walk that trick's the obselik.

You hardly ever have a chance to do it anyway. There has to be no lag yet the SFPS has to be low as well (as stated above). Anyway, I'm not gonna tell you, although it is easily counterable on most maps.

Ok. Saw the server is lagging a bit and your getting low SFPS and FPS. You walk up to a reasonal enterance of there base.. saw the ref tunnel on field.. u turn around look at the ground and run backwards looking down until you make it to the ob. Some people consider hiding behind things and tricking the ob like the mini metal pedistal on city fly or buying a 1000 dollar character and letting the ob hit you ob walking. But real ob walking really is just doing what I said at the start and for that you need low SFPS (FPS). MeH try it but you usually get kicked for it.

I've noticed sometime on Hourglass, if you are an infantry standing right on top of the hill in 3rd person view, the obelisk will appear to hit you again and again, but you don't take any damage. And don't have to move or anything.
