Subject: FDSWeb now works with BR.net!

For all server admins...

I have just updated FDSWeb so that it is compatible with BR.net. If you are running the original BR, then stick with the version you have now, as support for the original BR has been discontinued by FDSWeb. This and all future versions will assume you have BR.net.

And if you haven't seen FDSWeb yet, you're missing out! It's the only utility out there that will put the FDS in your web browser! Fully streaming and scrolling just like it does on the local server console. Administer your Renegade server from anywhere in the world!

Have you taken another look at that problem that destroyed my operating system and made me format after installing FDS web?

I believe that problem is related to something else that was on your system as dozens of other users have installed FDSWeb without incident.
