When I try to load a map, it gives me this error:
http://home.earthlink.net/~mjfabian/problem.JPG

I have tried reinstalling gmax...any ideas?

If that started recently maybe it's because the latest XP fix

Quote:Since I'm using XP, it's all because of update XP kb823980--I uninstalled it, and BOOM, gmax works properly again

lol

anyway.. I had that problem too a while ago. the file you want to open is is damaged.

I don't know how to solve that problem. that model you wanted to open, was it skinned?

No, you should install XP updates--just be weary and keep track of what you install.

Agrees

I have all the XP updates and I have never had nothing go wrong at all.

BTW why is this not in the tech support forum?
