its working for red alert 2,
dont they basicly run on the same thing?
when ever i try login online to play a game, it goes to connect, after a minute it says login failure, liike i got my name or somethihng wrong.
then i go to verify the name and password and its correct.
can someone help?

Each Westwood game has its own WOL server.

I think its typical that EA buys someone like Westwood and then has the attitude like "so what" when it comes to tech support. Its a fricken maze just to get to any kind of notification screen to EA, then I got a message about how EA doesnt support this title due to age of game.

EA is a bunch of dumbasses and dont know how to fix renegade problems, the only people who do are the people who worked for westwood. If we could 5 or 6 of the westwood employes and sneak them into EA it would work.

also if you guys cannot connect to WOL still give this a try..... go to my information in renegade and change connection to ISD or something like that and then try and log on
