We have a topic going on the Generals Forums looking for an answer for when this problem might be fixed. Generals seems to be having their own problems, the patch they released seems to have turned out to be more of a hack...lmao. Take a look and post, if we get enough people maybe EA will reply.

asdfg195And what exactly does this have to do with Renegade?

If you even read the first post at all you would see that he said there is a post in the Generals forums that is asking EA if there could be an update on why there are problems with the WOL servers and if/when it should be fixed. I'm assuming this post was put on the Generals forums because they are on the EA official forums and have a better chance of seeing and replying to it.

Just maybe...
