Looks cool - will download it to my 89 to see how it works

YanoGood news, one website has already made a HL2 game and now have talks of a Renegade and BF42 games

HL2 on a TI89? Probably with record-breaking graphics at 50x50 at .02 FPS

Ren and BF (especially HL2) will probably be pretty slow if a huge amount of detail isn't taken out.

Anyway, it should be cool - head to head calculator Renegade wars. How about sniping - a person might be a whole pixel big without the scope

I almost had a TI-92 once, but the teacher who was going to give it to me couldn't because the school owned it and not her.
