Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by NS3Delta on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 01:32:58 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i am learning html and wanna know if any of u guys that have a site need any help devolping and and maintaining it ...... im still learning html ,, i know the basics and am very bored .. so if u need help please tell me

---

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Yano on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 02:13:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

google.com
 :rolleyes:

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 02:30:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yanogoogle.com
 :rolleyes:

What does Google have to do with what he's asking? Did you even try to read what he posted, or did you just feel like replying with some random URL out of boredom? :rolleyes:

NS3Deltai am learning html and wanna know if any of u guys that have a site need any help devolping and and maintaining it ...... im still learning html ,, i know the basics and am very bored .. so if u need help please tell me

It's nice that you're offering your time to help other webmasters, but think about it a little more... Do you think it would actually help a webmaster to have someone "helping" them that knows considerably less than him? Also, most of the sites today mostly use programming/scripting languages like php, asp, etc. and javascript than actual html.

It would be more beneficial if you were to finish learning html, than learn javascript, and than if you want to make websites that use databases, and be dynamic (Having content change depending on who is logged in and their settings.) you could learn php.

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Yano on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 02:37:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just look at the place idiot. You can't understand sarcasm can you?

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 03:08:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

YanoJust look at the place idiot. You can't understand sarcasm can you?

Sarcasm? Posting a single URL with no accompanying text, is very ambiguus, and up to our interpretation. You made no indication rather or not you were telling him to use google to search for something, or to poke fun at their website design.

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Yano on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 03:17:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sir PhoenixxYanoJust look at the place idiot. You can't understand sarcasm can you?

Sarcasm? Posting a single URL with no accompanying text, is very ambiguus, and up to our interpretation. You made no indication rather or not you were telling him to use google to search for something, or to poke fun at their website design.
We all have brains, use it.... If you don't understand it, just ignore it and move on. (ambiguus? Learn to spell)

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Apache on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 03:36:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I know HTML quite well, but it is almost impossible to be a help without knowing PHP or something anymore... I still get the occasional job where the php framework is complete and I just have to do the HTML coding for the layout around the PHP... Keep looking, I am sure that someone can use you...

This is the type of person that this community greatly lacks... A person who is willing to help in any way that he or she can, regardless of their skill level. We have too many stupid kids that laze around expecting everyone else to do everything for them, while making the people who do something's life difficult. No names to mention... :rolleyes:

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by boma57 on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 04:09:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

shakes cane Back in my day, we had to know HTML in and out...in notepad! Now y'got yer confangled PHP and yer lazy Dreamweaver...Why, back in my day, we'd have killed for a compiler...fades off

Nah, actually I feel the same way as you do, Apache.

You can be a help knowing just HTML though, like you said, you still have to code a basic HTML template for PHP to function properly, and surprisingly, I've been asked to do this for a lot of people who know PHP.

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Havoc_elite on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 11:52:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

maybe you can help beginnig webmasters you know who want to start a site...

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by NS3Delta on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 12:26:28 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

thanks apache ......   so once i get html down i should go on to php ? ...i always use dreamweaver ...it very helpfull with html

---

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Yano on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 13:01:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Note pad owns all Dreamweaver is a must IMO

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by NS3Delta on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 13:51:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i really just want to get involved .. like helping the helper of the web,mster .... just something to start at ... i want to be involved in some thing !

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by bigwig992 on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 13:54:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

http://www.davesite.com/webstation/html/

Thank god I only need to know a little bit of that for PHP Nuke .

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by NS3Delta on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 14:06:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What ?

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by NS3Delta on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 14:07:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What ?

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Blade Monkey on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 15:02:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Taximes*shakes cane* Back in my day, we had to know HTML in and out...in notepad! Now y'got yer confangled PHP and yer lazy Dreamweaver...Why, back in my day, we'd have killed for a compiler...fades off

Heh, I still use Notepad, it's less confusing and actually tests my skill level. Anybody can use DreamWeaver to make a site, but not everybody can do it in Notepad.

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by DrasticDR on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 15:07:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

A good way of learning HTML is by looking at how other websites are made.

If you right click and go to "View Source" you will get all the HTML thats was put together to make this page.

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by Apache on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 17:39:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have never actually used any sort of web page editing program before... Its always been notepad for me I would highly suggest that you learn PHP once you have finished learning HTML, you'll become someone in high demand suddenly One of these days I'll learn PHP, I'm just too lazy, lol

---

Subject: Looking to help some one
Posted by General Havoc on Thu, 07 Aug 2003 17:46:50 GMT

CSS (Cascading Style Sheets) are handy to use with HTML so if you know how to write style sheets and use them with html documents it can be handy. CSS is also used with PHP as well so most of the things you learn in HTML can help you with other web languages.

http://www.w3schools.com is an excellent ite for learning HTML and other web things.

_General Havoc