Though, I dont support Bush's decisions, I don't think any of this should be blamed on our soldiers out there. My brother, is attached to a Seal Unit in Turkey, and I wish the best of luck to him. his website. OT means Off Topic (I'm sure you know this) and he even has a point to his post. If you've adulterated the meaning of the word.

And now for something completely different: I did not know, until today, that the word spam which chanting of the word Spam (trademark for a canned meat product) overrides the other Haha. I remember that skit. That was a great show.

Yeah I would, I know that I haven't made one spam topic on these forums, ever. I haven't spammed at all ever to increase my post count, long and short of the story, I have never spammed on these forums at all.

Just because some of us have higher post counts than you doesn't make it "spam"... my little ignorant child.
