It's not really a mod

I was making a map and just screwing around, so I threw the Lear jets in. Since it wasn't an aircraft map, it didn't have a height barrier, and I just kept flying up and up and realized that the combination of snow and the night sky looks like stars, which brought upon the skins (I made them).

I was talking about this in another thread, too. Afterwards, I started making a space-based map, but I lost all progress on it in a format.

Note: It's hard to read, but the name of the spacecraft is Quantifigon. You're a real oldbie if you

Not exactly as amusing as some of the screens or really amazing. It just sticks in my mind at the time because it was the first time I had seen an ion cannon blast from an orca.
