deathmad8what is 32 MB / 3D T&L capable?

32MB of card memory.

T&L is Transform & Lighting. They probably mean Hardware based. In that case, a Geforce-256 and Radeon 7200 and up should handle it.

My mistake, I thought it was out already. Yes Sept. 30th is the offical release date, but by then it will be 4 months until Halo 2 for xbox. I think that's bad timing.

Half-life got pushed back, might want to check your dates. Last I heard it was Nov. sometime now.

No, it's still on for the 30th. The delay was just a rumour that was later dismissed by Valve. Unless this is new delay...

Anyway, it's a stupid idea to bring Halo out on the same day as Half-Life 2. If people had to choose between them, I'm sure HL2 would come out tops, judging by the amount of hype it's getting.

Nah Halo has been getting alot of hype also. The only reason hlf2 has more is because halo hasnt released any new videos except for the recent multiplayer which not alot of people can see. It will be close which is better though. I guess we will know Sept 30.

half life 2 has 2 movies and halo has 2 movies half life 2 will sell better because everyone has already played halo

Lol...Half-Life 2 has seven high-quality videos online alone, that's not even counting the different things recorded from E3.

Half Life 2 has 6 movies.....Those are just from the E3. First it was low quality and one movie now they release it high quality but in parts.

O and they released 7 from those movies

It's not halo 2, it's just halo for pc. It will be basicly the same as the xbox version, but with different features. Why would you want it to take longer? it's not being rushed, so why wait longer, most of the game was already complete anyway. oh ya, i asked a guy at a vieo game store yesterday when it was coming out, and he said sept.25th.
