For thoughts who knew TRTA (The Rise of the Aliens) died a few mounths ago, but just today Case 9 Studios (the makers of TRTA) merged with another team of mappers and modelers and will soon begin working on the mod when i set the first meeting date.

For thoughts who never knew about TRTA, TRTA is a mod that takes place in the mear futer when the world is hit unexpectidly by a massive alien attack.

then mod teams have merged to create the new name Space Age: The Rise of the Aliens with a few modification to the storie line for TRTA which can be found here:

<http://susr.stardust-studios.net/scene01.doc> .

All of you are on a team only because you want recognition. Not because you want to help the game live, or anything else - you just want people to look at you as if you're worth something.

You idiots don't seem to realize something. I'm not in a competition right now. I'm trying to make this game live.

You're not helping. All of these "studios" or whatever you have to "sponsor" you, what the fuck are they? One person with a logo and he calls himself a studio.

Your game modification - where's that going? Months ago it was started. No one has any information on it. No one knows what's going on with it.

What is it? It's not really a game modification. It's just some people no one knows about - trying to get people to kiss ass and look good.

This is what makes people just not care about game modifications - idiots like you. Going on a search for glory instead of working on the game. "Oh we're so big and important, look at our studio! It's a studio because we say so! We're going to do all this great stuff!" *two months later* "Okay we broke up!"

Just go away.

It isnt just one person. And how do u know cna u see into the future.

We're not asking for somone to "Kiss our ass" we are jsut trying to do mods

And obviously you are making the game DIE by doing exactly this ----STARTING arguments.Noone even said anything about "Sponsering"

People have other things to do than make maps all day they have school to attend and jobs to do they cant Realse a map or make a model every 5 minutes.

Just so you do know, you don't have to enjoy the boards to enjoy the game. In fact, I'm sure that are loads of people who have no idea that there is a official forum for the game, who still enjoy playing the game online. And even if they do know about it, visiting the forums (although is fun and keeps you informed) isn't required to enjoy the game itself.

Well, we are making progress, we have already made 3 Alien models and 1 female techno human model, all are playable in game. I have also modeled a space ship which is not yet playable in game..

I really hate your criticism over this mod team, you seem to think that no one is better than like, ren alert and other mod teams you are in. You think of other mods as trash that should bow down to you.

What is wrong with some people making a fan made mod for the game? Thats what mods are, just fan made stuff. People can learn how to like model and stuff, bone stuff, easily. And I just dont get why you have to just start going on about it like it is absolutly nothing!

Not wanting to start a war (Again) I would personally like to hear from ACK about the RenAlert Mod. When will it be released? Last time I looked the site was down 'cause the owner pulled the plug. I heard that they were looking for another site. I'd like to know where it is.

(Now the lecture) ACK you have a reputation for doing great work. Most - if not all of us - have played on your maps at one time or another. Perhaps a bit of encouragement for other mappers and modders would be in order rather than slamming everyone else. In my humble opinion slamming everyone only belittles yourself and your accomplishments. I know two mappers who - whilst relatively new to the business - have produced some pretty good maps. Neither one has a good word to say for you. I find that rather sad.

Doesn't matter if you "made" it or not. Copyright laws have a thing that if something is too similar than it can be deemed a copyright infringement. Dispite the fact that you made it, even skinned it a different colour isn't enough simply becuase it is easily mistakable as the alien from the "Alien" series.

Just a friendly warning that is someone who cares found out, you could be in trouble if the original creator decided to act.

Umm, ok u guys have a point about the model, its the head that looks similar... cauz the one in aliens has some bones coming out of his back (i think).

Well, if you search google for aliens i bet you will find loads of aliens with that type of head... It is a popular alien design for the head to be all long. And say it was too similar to the ones featured in the movie, im a 13 year old who plays a game which is unknown to many gaming industries. It isnt like they will check up on the mod.

I think that it is fine, it has a human like body, and all that... just the head.

If you guys should insist that it is too alike then I will go to like the Alien website and ask for legal rights. But im not even sure the movie Alien invented that type of alien. I would think it dates back a long time.

Maybe so, but this has been gone over before. You don't need to make money off of it to be sued for copyright infringement. All they have to do is prove it's close enough to theirs and they have proof that they hold the rights. Money isn't an issue.

The movie has the same alien many other things have, DONT THINK THIS WAS THE FIRST ALIEN THAT LOOKED LIKE THAT!!

The only thing that resembles the alien in the movie is the head. Just a frikin head! The body is totally different!

If you think i (a 13 year old) can get sued for giving a model a big head, really think about it. lol. The film Alien didnt create the alien design (with the big head) that design wsas created about 50 years ago by some weird artist who painted aliens and ufo's and monsters and weirdo stuff like that.

Faking identities what the hell??!

ACK YOU are the IDIOT all you do is sit around and insult modding "n00bs" who are trying to make a mod in renegade. Now you may have been able to handle being abused by the superior modelers when you where a n00b but most of them cant so at least give em a chance. Of course their first models are going to look like shit but they are just starting out and still only know the basics but still you harass them until they just leave. I agree and many others agree on the same thing. And there are still modelers just as good as you if not better here in these forums so quit walking around like you own the place and being a jack ass to poor n00bs who are just trying to make something for there favorite game.

Do not be discouraged by some twerp who flames you and other mappers and modders. I am a player not a mapper and I and MANY others really appreciate all the long hours of effort that you all put in. If someone is so mean hearted that he has to flame those just starting out it does not say much for him.

Everyone in every field has to start from scratch. The decent types will help nOObs just learning their trade - whatever that trade may be. You will see MANY MORE expressions of support throughout our community than flammers.

Take heart and keep the faith baby! Keep on mapping!

I'm going to add functionality to my site to support coordinated efforts on modding, skinning, anti-cheating, and anything else that TEAMS of people should be working together PEACEFULLY to do.

I agree with ACK that there are a lot of people out there looking out for fame, not the game.

Case9 is undoubtedly working on some good things, I've personally talked to a few of them more than once about their support for anti-cheats as well. They have a good thing going.

The RenGuard team has some good work in progress with anti-cheats as well.

There are also a lot of very good modders, skimmers, etc out there that work alone --- who would make a WONDERFUL contribution to a team with a similiar goal.

Hopefully my project will continue to grow and coordinate all these efforts. But as ACK has said and I support ----

It needs to be for the game. Not for fame.

Tsunami Alliance is all about doing good things for Renegade and its loyal community of players. Not making a face for itself.

As an C&C loyalist since 1994 and a die-hard Renegade addict that has seen his share of elite warfare ... I've pretty much GIVEN UP my gameplay time so I can help revive the game and fix these problems.

But I need support from everyone. I cannot do this alone.

If you truely want to help the game of Renegade survive. Contact me.

And if there is ever a HOPE of seeing a Renegade 2, let's show EA that the Renegade community means business. Petitions and emails won't do it. Pouring your heart and soul into creatively enhancing the game will.

This is so fucking pissing me off.

Hint: ITS A FUCKING ALIEN! And i cant be sued from the create of it cauz he is DEAD!! He was some US Artist who made it, not ALIENS, I cant be sued for ANYTHING. You can try and get me sued if u want. But who the fuck would sue me for making a model.

Some guy said the alien would look weird on 2 legs. - Its an alien, do u have any fucking clue what an alien is supposed to look like?! Aliens are WEIRD THINGS (so i think) so making them WEIRD is normal.

All shut up about "sueing" i cant be sued from anyone at all. I made the model, the original maker of it is deadl, the makers of Alien cant sue me because... oh.. they diddnt make that design. I cant be sued for it. Oh, and im 13, try and sue me for jack shit.

ACK, i hope you realise you have made alot of enemys, like anyone who views this thread with start flaming you. So i would stop now b4 you reputation really gets fucked.

Once again, you're an idiot. It doesn't matter if he's dead or alive. Whoever owns the copyrights to the Alien series of movie will have the authority to send you a cease-and-desist notice. Failure to comply will end up in a lawsuit.

You don't have to be doing it for profit. It doesn't matter. They can lose their copyright if they don't actively enforce it.

It doesn't matter how old you are. That's nothing but a total cop-out. The law is set, either follow it or you face the consequences.

Enemies? Do you really think I fucking care if some 13 year old and his retard friends hate me?? My reputation doesn't matter, and it sure isn't going to change because of said people.

The subject has totally changed... i cant get sued... And no one owns that alien design.

It has been used thosands of times, and happened to be in a popular movie, doesnt mean i can get sued. Think of it like this:

I go to court because i made a 3d model of an alien WITH FUCKING FAT HEAD....

The makers of Alien have to come to England to see me....

I wont get sued for making the model cauz ITS A FUCKING HEAD!

= hahahahaha, fuck this! I cant get sued for it, the maker is some german guy who had nothing to do with the movie alien, therefore making the movie ALIEN not have copyright laws... so they could have been sued for it if the dead dude was alive.

ACK, you call me an idiot, but just read your posts. You are the fucking idiot... You think you just know everything.... And i wouldnt say your reputation isnt a big issue, if like you didnt have any reputation then your life would be a fucking wreck!

Uhh... and since when did you start knowing so much about the law?

Quote:The subject has totally changed... i cant get sued... And no one owns that alien design.

20th Century Fox owns the rights to the "Alien" series. That includes the soundtrack, the character names, and yes even the Alien designs.

Quote:It has been used thosands of times, and happened to be in a popular movie, doesnt mean i can get sued. Think of it like this:

Thousands of times? Really? Please show us where it has been used even once! And it's not just the head, it's the entire body. The only major difference is that yours is standing straight up, while the movie creations are seen hunched over when standing erect. Search the web, you'll find all sorts of pictures of the movie that support what I say.

Quote: cant get sued for it, the maker is some german guy who had nothing to do with the movie alien, therefore making the movie ALIEN not have copyright laws... so they could have been sued for it if the dead dude was alive.

Can't comment on whether or not the original creator was German, but if 20th Century Fox had mad the movie without the concent of the current owner of the design rights, some people would be VERY rich right now. You see, there is this thing called a copyright. And even if the person is dead, the copyright can still exist for another 75 (not sure on the exact number of years) after the persons death, unless the title is transferred (which is usually the case). In either case, if the copyright had been owned by someone else at the time of the movies production, a lawyer would have sued on behalf of the owner (had he been dead at the time and not transferred ownership). However, if the copyright had expired, then Fox could have simply taken up the rights when they made the movie. However seeing as there was no lawsuit (as another 4 movies were made) it's fair enough to say that if the Alien design wasn't originally created for Fox, that they obtained the rights to use them.

Quote:ACK, you call me an idiot,

After reading this garbage you posted, I'd say he's right.

I know alot about the law since my dad was in the police and my nan was a lawyer... And i live with my nan and dad... quite annoying cauz my nan wants me to become a lawyer lol.

Search google for aliens, half of them have that. And the game Aliens vs Predator uses it, then Aliens the movie uses it.

Honestly there is 0% chance I will get sued since there are so many of the same design accross then internet, meaning no one will be able to claim the monopoly of the design.

Ok, can we try and get this thread back on topic?!

I don't think you understand. Just because you make what you would call a "Minor infraction" of the law, doesn't mean that you're not violating it. You CAN be sued. You probably will NOT be sued, but kid, I'm tell you, you CAN be.

Not unlike the RIAA. Just because you think it's too much a minor infraction of the law doesn't mean you're going to get away with it.

Hes right (for once) yes big deal you can be sued but the chances of that happening are very slim but on the other hand since this has been brought to the attention of this community you now have more chance of being sued cos lets face it all it takes is some little n00b to report you and thats it

Generally speaking, you can create anything you want. As long as you don't distribute it, nothing can happn to you. Remember this is just generally speaking, and doesn't apply to everything.

The reason this arguement is being persued is because Adavanze keeps trying to pass of that even if it were used, nothing legal would happen against anyone. At least with my posts, I was simply trying to educate him otherwise. As with all leagal hapenings, charges are never certain, which is why we have judges to decide on an appropriate course of action and if the actions taken by the individuals in question are worthy of persuing. Again, all I was trying to say was that it could happen because the copyright was being infringed upon.

How many times do I have to mention this before you get it???

It's not just the head... it's the entire body! Head, torso, tail, even feet and hands. Go look at a picture of the alien from the movie and you'll see what I'm talking about. Besides, it's the style of the head, not the fact that it's big.

Ok, can we TRY and make an effort to get this on topic now? This means no talk about the alien model since like 2 pages are on arguing about it.

Well, we have a mech model which is going to be used soon, umm.... we have a website and a forum:

website: <http://susr.sdsites.net/modsite> (not finished) the forum: <http://www.multec.com/case9studios/forum/default.asp> ok, this was wrote on the site which is for this site (the site which hosts it):

Stryker, Case 9 Studios is Space Age mod's work place (like WestWood Studios), the team is currently in the process of putting together a mod team to create "Space Age : Rise of the Aliens" mod for Renegade.

This is the mod site, currently down for updates and should be up sometime soon.
<http://susr.sdsites.net/modsite>

The main site is here: <http://www.case9studios.tk/>
But currently is under construction.

You can access the forums here:
<http://www.multec.com/case9studios/forum/default.asp>

Most if not all of the mod will be in space, with space stations and spaceships.

United Earth Federation VS Kryton Star Empire
Earth : Human Kryton : Alien

Case 9 Studios also need some people to join the mod team.

Currently the mod has some spots filled already.
If your a good at,

Gmax modeler (make structures, guns, tanks, etc)
Mapper (make maps)
Skinner (skins stuff)
Scripter (write scripts for the mod)

The mod team is also looking for people with PHP knowledge (website stuff) for <http://susr.sdsites.net/modsite> .

But what the team doesnt have yet is a Sound/Music Artist, if your really good at that please email these two in charge.
