Does anyone happen to have a large-ish amount of C&C quiz questions?

I am starting to learn PHP and I have written a quiz script that puts your results into a MySQL database so you can compare your score to other peoples. Also the quiz tells you which questions you got correct and incorrect - also can give an explanation on why you got it wrong or what the correct answer was. It's fairly basic but if someone has a a set of questions I could make one.

From what I understood, he's looking for C&C questions to create a quiz like the PS one that he used as an example. I think it would be pretty cool, though offhand I can't think of any questions.

No, but I can come up with a bunch of questions/answers for CnC...

Btw, are we just talking about Tiberian Dawn, or all games in the CnC universe?

Yeah anything C&C related that are multiple choice or something the script can validate any form element so you can have a textbox that you have to write something in or a set of checkboxes etc.

You may just want to do the C&C dawn series or the redalert one or a combination of all of them. The questions should be something people are going to know, thats why multiple choice is preferred.
