Renguard will search Renegade/Data directory and ban cheaters if cheats are found there right?
Senario:
What if I was to replace the bighead files with the originals in always.dat? Then Renguard will miss the file, think I sm clean, but still allow me to cheat.

And i'm guessing that a full search of always.dat will be sluggish because its so huge.

You lot get the idea...........
ideas?..........

Accounted for that and more, such as small details like the fact that Renegade will also find and use files that are in the "config" and "save" directories just like it does for "data"
