Yeah, it's going to be fixed shortly. We just got the new site online last night and some of the links need fixing. I took me long enough to do the FAQ and tutorials database and I was on it for a good

3 hours so I'll get them fixed now.

Laeubi wrote a great script that parses the tutorials and then strips some tags to replace them with ones to make them all look the same, which is good, the downside is that the URL's get messed up atm, but we are working on it.

So bare with us, we are quite busy but we will have it fixed as soon as possible.
