Westwood has long since cancelled Renegade 2. That's not just a mod package, either. The screens seen earlier showed the clipping plane was much further away than the 300m in informed, or...

logic, he is telling the truth, it is based on RA, just as TS is based on TD, or RA2 is based on RA

A mod like this is possible, but aside from the models that Chuck is going to release, there's no other source material to base it on, unlike the RA/RA2/TS/TD mods. It'd require designers that can make vehicles/buildings/characters based on this "scavenger" theme without any source material.

Hey guys

The Renegade 2 engine was a bit newer it could hold a lot more polygons than the first engine go to <http://www.cncnz.com>.

Then go down on the news a bit and there are a few pics of it and a bit of info.

Why did they have to cancel it

I believe they changed their game in mid-development and turned it into Red Alert 2. I can't show you the leaked screenshots I have (Stuff that would knock your socks off.), but I can tell you a lot of it was beyond amazing - you can tell it was Red Alert 2 because of what they were slowly implementing into the test maps; Soviet Barracks, destruction animations for it, Battle Bunkers, and other assorted items.

As far as I recall, they only got the Soviet Barracks and the Battle Bunker done. The rest wasn't finished in time. Some vehicles were created as well - all of this was zipped up by Greg Hjelstrom and put on the Westwood FTP in the RENEGADEMODART.zip file.

Darn you and your inability to tell us. I wonder if you would get in trouble, if you just happened to email me all those screenshots instead of the Ren Alert beta, opps.

Why would they care so much? It is a cancelled project, after all. EA has done it again.

These are the only working pictures I could find. Didn't find any movies, however.
